PAULA ROWAN

COUTURE FOR THE HANDS

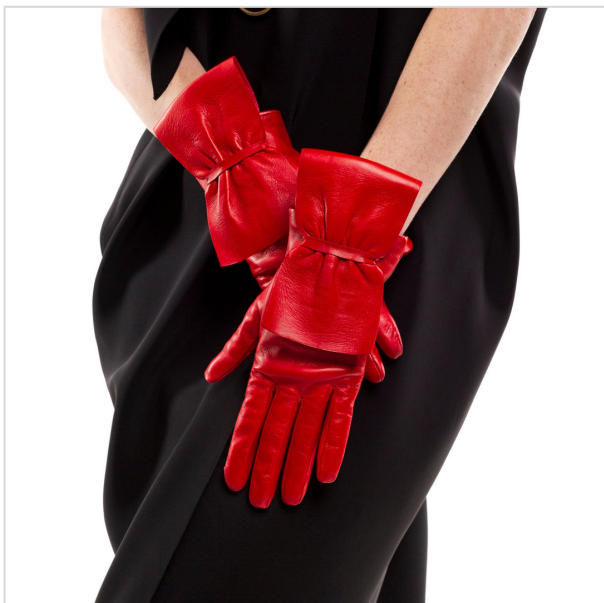

THESE AND MORE

Since her first collection 15 years ago, Paula Rowan has created some 245 gloves – all designed in Ireland, handmade in Naples. She favours lambskin but regularly sources and uses peccary, eel, python and shearling. Always hand-stretched and hand-stitched, always ethically sourced and SITA certified. Her hides are hand-treated with natural oils and waxes to preserve the leather's natural elasticity, and hand-dyed in 200+ colours.

This traditional approach is demanding but has two great benefits. First and foremost it results in gloves that are unsurpassed in quality, anywhere. Second, it means Paula can easily create bespoke designs and variants – for example, modifying an existing line with a unique trim or a custom-dyed colour. Exclusive editions are also possible. In other words: use this linesheet as a starting point.
